

We have been on the Indiana no call list for a year. This has been terrific and made life a lot less of a hassle in the evenings. We would be against any FCC ruling that passed a national no call law that was less restrictive than Indiana's. We use to receive in excess of 15 calls a week and now receive only a couple per month at most. We never bought anything from those call we use to receive they were just irritating and annoying.